Correctional Healthcare RFP Toolkit and Webinar

Policy Research Associate's (PRA) Correctional Healthcare RFP Toolkit is designed to help correctional and detention facilities—along with local governments—create effective, outcome-focused requests for proposals (RFPs) for healthcare services.

Providing constitutionally mandated healthcare within jails, prisons, and other detention facilities is challenging. The quality of care for this medically complex group often relies on the request for proposal (RFP) and contract language between the facility and external provider(s). The quality and accuracy of the RFP are critical to the long-term success of the healthcare program. Creating comprehensive RFPs can increase safety and continuity of care, promote accountability and cost efficiencies, and decrease the impact of incarceration, risk of potential lawsuits, and recidivism.

Policy Research has collaborated with a multidisciplinary team of correctional healthcare experts to develop a practical open-source resource to improve correctional facility healthcare. The Toolkit includes a customizable RFP Template and guides users through preparing to draft an RFP, drafting and issuing the RFP, evaluating vendor responses, and negotiating and managing the contract.

Join an informative webinar on April 3, 2025 at 1:00 p.m. highlighting the importance of quality correctional healthcare, typical contract pitfalls, and how to use the new RFP Toolkit. A Q&A with presenters will follow the presentation.
